Past, Present, Future... Revisited

Without history, a society shares no common memory of where it has been, what its core values are, or what decisions of the past account for present circumstances. Without history, we cannot undertake any sensible inquiry into the political, social or moral issues in society.

- National Standards for History, 1996

Four years ago, I used these pages to turn the Division's face forward to meet the future. In 2010, that meant implementing an education and outreach campaign to strengthen existing relationships with industry members and stakeholder associations in order to engage in solution-oriented conversations about alcohol related issues. Fast forward to today and I'm pleased to report that the Division has made great strides toward creating more open lines of communication with our partners.

Credible, Predictable, Sustainable

As you realize, the Division plays many roles within the state of Iowa. It is charged with licensing, regulating and enforcing alcohol laws, as well as serving as the sole distributor of spirits within the state. The goal I set in 2010 has not changed; the Division remains focused on ensuring that all stakeholders are able to conduct their business on a level playing field within the boundaries of the law. To this end, I am committed to creating credible, predictable and sustainable regulatory, education and compliance programs for Iowa businesses to follow.

Best Practices Matter

Selling alcohol and other age-restricted products is a privilege that comes with great responsibilities. It is important that businesses exercise due diligence and act responsibly to ensure that age-restricted products are not sold or provided to minors. The primary vehicle for retailers to meet their obligation is to thoroughly check identification and refuse the sale if in doubt of the customer's age or identification. Retailers are encouraged to adopt best practices by training employees involved in the selling and serving of age restricted products by utilizing existing resources on the Division's website.

Trade Practices Matter

During the past four years, the Division has significantly increased its contact with and understanding of industry members and their issues. They, in turn, have expressed their desire for the Division to clarify the sometimes confusing state and Federal trade practice regulations. Based on this feedback, the Division is taking a proactive regulatory stance by addressing "grey" areas in a black and white fashion.

Going forward, as in the past, I remain committed to maintaining an open dialog between the Division and its stakeholders to ensure that we operate in a credible, predictable and sustainable manner.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson, Administrator
Larson@IowaABD.com

Highly Allocated Products

Highly allocated products are brought in on a very temporary basis and are highly limited in supply. The Iowa ABD has established a lottery system so all Class E licensees have an equal opportunity to purchase these products as they become available.

Licensees interested in highly allocated products must sign up for email notification at http://iowaabd.com/alcohol/licensees/products/highly\_allocated. Once notified, licensees have 48 hours to submit product and quantity interest. In the event that there is not enough product to meet demand, an electronic randomizer is used to distribute the allocations.

Don't miss your opportunity to purchase some truly unique and rare products for your customers. Sign up for the highly allocated products notification today!

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy.

Remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers.

DON'T FORGET: Drive sober or get pulled over and buzzed driving is drunk driving.

NEARLY 23% of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

F I E L D A U D I T O R

What are your duties as a field auditor?

Essentially, my job is to ensure that licensees across the state are operating their respective businesses within the rules of the law. This includes county-by-county checks for compliance as well as responding to and investigating specific complaints filed with the Division. I like to think of this job as an opportunity to help businesses succeed and avoid problems rather than being regarded as a disciplinarian or hindrance.

What is your favorite part of your job?

I enjoy traveling the state and having the opportunity to meet so many people. Because our intent is to help licensees discover success with their respective businesses, these interactions are largely positive and rarely confrontational. Every community has its own personality and the restaurants and bars within these communities are reflective of Iowa's charm and character.

What is the most challenging part of your job?

While the vast majority of licensees in the state are honest and trustworthy, there remain a certain percentage of operators who try to beat the system and conduct business unethically. Investigating these situations can be time consuming and frustrating. Fortunately, we have the resources, knowledge and cooperation with other state agencies and local law enforcement to help resolve cases involving bad actors.

What do you do in your free time?

I recently became a grandfather, which is a great 'topping' for a life dedicated to raising a family with my wife of 31 years – three sons who somehow survived me as baseball and soccer coach to lead constructive lives. Beyond that, I enjoy bicycling, photography, going to movies, attending as many live music events as possible and watching soccer (live and televised). I also volunteer with the Iowa Radio Reading Service, reading the newspaper over the radio and providing audio description for plays for the sight impaired. Recently, I've developed an interest in fly fishing and enjoy driving to Montana annually to discover how much I have yet to master.

STRAIGHT TALK

Bourbon and American straight whiskey continue to approach consumers with more and better alternatives.

BY JACK ROBERTIELLO

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the September/October 2013 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

Call it a luxury problem.

When execs in charge of Maker's Mark last spring announced their intent to lower the proof of their flagship bourbon, the reaction was an immediate and almost uniform "No!" from the fans of the brand, who flooded wine and spirit shops to stock up on what they feared would be the last of the original, bottled at 90 proof. Victims of their own international success and looking for a way to maintain supply, brand owner Beam Global seemed equally caught off guard by overwhelming demand and the swift response from fans and quickly backed down, but not until the tumult once again focused consumer and industry attention on the stunning renaissance of American whiskey.

No major brand did as well as Maker's Mark in terms of percentage increase last year, but most straight whiskies did very well nationally, according to figures gathered by the Beverage Information Group. But the whiskey shortage at Maker's Mark, joked about by some as a marketing ploy, is something other American distillers have referred to frequently since the once-neglected spirit is setting sales records here and abroad.

While it didn't get as much attention, a similar warning was issued from Buffalo Trace Distillery, maker of many of the sought-after, high-end small batch brands like Eagle Rare and Sazerac, who last spring notified buyers and consumers of potential shortages. "Sometimes, it's hard to get your head around the idea that [in 2013] we made product for the year 2021. We've already made that year, and that's it," says Harlan Wheatley, master distiller.

Part of what has driven sales higher has been consumer thirst for the generally more expensive line extensions and more aged expressions emerging from Kentucky. Fred Noe, master distiller at Jim Beam, notes that the response is about whiskey drinkers being less brand loyal and much more adventurous. "People are much more open-minded today about American whiskey and want to try new things." He refers to the Beam small batch collection launched in the late 1990s and how the idea of creating whiskies based on age, proof, barrel selection, and warehouse location, considered unusual at the time, is now common. "People want to see what you're coming up with—they know your products and how they're made. Years ago people would have turned their noses up at some of these whiskies, and now they are enthusiastic."

As Andrew Floor, senior marketing director—dark spirits, Campari America who oversees Wild Turkey, says, “The sky is literally the limit for American whiskeys . . . I think the bourbon renaissance is still in its early stages, and as consumer understanding of and appreciation for the diverse world of American whiskey grows, so will the category.”

GIVE YOUR CUSTOMERS WHAT THEY WANT—HIGH-END BOURBONS

Capitalize on increasing consumer interest in high-end bourbons by highlighting a variety of small batch and top-of-the-line expressions each month. For each bourbon, provide background information about the distiller, the ingredients used, the distilling process, the aging process, and the complex flavors, as well as subtle nuances.

Encourage your customers to fully enjoy the distinctive color, rich aroma, and subtle flavors of each bourbon by sipping it slowly. Suggest they try several brands to discover the one(s) they prefer.

A SPLASH OF CINNAMON BOOSTS TEQUILA SALES

Help your customers spice up their favorite drinks and boost your sales by promoting cinnamon-flavored tequila. Suggest your customers try it in shooters as well as in favorite mixed drinks.

Cinnamon-Flavored Shooters

1 (3-ounce) box lime margarita, piña colada, or other gelatin of choice
6 ounces boiling water
4 ounces complementary spirit or liqueur of choice
2 ounces cinnamon-flavored tequila

Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water. Add the spirit or liqueur of choice and the cinnamon-flavored tequila; stir gently until thoroughly mixed. Let the mixture cool to room temperature, and then pour it into shot glasses. Refrigerate the shooters until the gelatin sets. Serve with fancy toothpicks or swizzle sticks so the shooters can be stirred (and liquefied) a little before drinking.

Fall Fruit Pie in a Glass

Serve in a chilled old-fashioned glass.

1-1½ ounces cinnamon-flavored tequila
1-1½ ounces apple, peach, raspberry or other fruit-flavored tequila
½-1 ounce complementary fruit juice
Ground cinnamon
Slice or wedge of complementary fresh fruit
Cinnamon stick

Place fresh ice in a mixing glass, and add the cinnamon-flavored tequila, fruit-flavored tequila, and fruit juice. Stir well, and strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass. Sprinkle with cinnamon, and garnish with the slice of fruit and cinnamon stick.

Cinnamon-Flavored Paloma

Serve in a tall, narrow, chilled glass rimmed with sugar or salt.

5-6 ounces freshly squeezed grapefruit juice

1-1½ ounces freshly squeezed lime juice
1-1½ teaspoons superfine sugar
2-2½ ounces cinnamon-flavored tequila
2-2½ ounces additional tequila or flavored tequila of choice
Club, lemon-lime, or other carbonated beverage of choice, chilled
Grapefruit slice or wedge

Place a few cubes of fresh ice in the prepared serving glass. Add the grapefruit juice, lime juice, and sugar; stir until the sugar dissolves. Stir in the cinnamon-flavored tequila and additional tequila of choice. Top with the carbonated beverage of choice, and garnish with the grapefruit.

Cinnamon-Flavored Tequila Martini

Serve in a chilled or frosted martini glass.

2½-3 ounces tequila or flavored tequila
½-1 ounce cinnamon-flavored tequila
½-1 ounce sweet or dry vermouth
Twist or slice of lemon or other fruit

Combine the tequilas and vermouth in a mixing glass with fresh ice; stir until mixed. Strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass. Garnish with the lemon or other fruit.

Spicy Fruit Cocktail

Serve in a chilled shallow cocktail glass.

2-2½ ounces cinnamon-flavored tequila
2-2½ ounces fruit-flavored liqueur
Slice of complementary fresh fruit

Pour the tequila and liqueur into a shaker half-filled with fresh ice. Shake vigorously, and strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass. Garnish with a slice of fresh fruit.

Innovation fuels success and growth of premixed cocktails.

BY KATE STRANDNESS

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the July/August 2013 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

Mojitos, margaritas, hurricanes, piña coladas—they're popular cocktails on any bar's roster and also cocktails that are available off-premise without any mixing, shaking, or muddling involved. Prepared cocktails—also known as premixed cocktails, ready to drink (RTD), ready to serve, and progressive adult beverages—make cocktail imbibing easy whether consumers are at home, on a boat, or outside around a campfire.

"Ready to serve products have become a staple for home entertainers, providing a much-needed convenience for busy lifestyles," says Toby Whitmoyer, vice president and brand managing director, rum category, at Bacardi USA. According to Michelle Sanders, Kahlúa brand director for Pernod Ricard USA, data shows that the prepared cocktails market is worth $241 million and gaining value. It's also become a hotspot for product innovation.

"Innovation is key in this category," says Megan Frank, director of Skinnygirl Cocktails. "Ready to serve is such a high impulse category, and it's the highest impulse category of any spirits category based on Nielsen research, so keeping it relevant in innovation is probably more important than in any other category."

It's about the newest products, the newest packaging, and the newest flavors. "Consumers are seeking flavor refreshment in the category," says Sean Wachsmann, Jack Daniel's associate brand manager at Brown-Forman.

What started with the Skinnygirl Margarita... is turning into an empire. "When it comes to cocktail, women want cocktails that are low calorie and still taste great," Megan Frank explains. "Innovation will continue to fuel our growth in the short term and probably longer term because it's what our target wants."

Bacardi recognized the need for a

Top of the Rock Grille

Top of the Rock Grille is not your average small town U.S.A. restaurant. The server's won't remember how you take your coffee or what you like to put on your hamburger. However, what they won't forget is to introduce you to new and innovative specials that make people come running back for more.

Don't get me wrong, the friendliness, comfort and familiarity of the small town restaurant is there. But you'd probably order the Rockin' Tacos (fish tacos) or the Bone-in Ribeye instead of a roast beef sandwich and fries. Instead of a cup of coffee you would order one of their freshly made cucumber lime martinis.

The establishment itself has an upscale feel with gold plated ceilings and stained glass windows. The bar is nestled into the corner giving maximum space for dining patrons while offering a view of their premium spirits, wines, and imported and Iowa craft beers.

Interior of Top of the Rock Grille

The dining area is wide open with high ceilings and tall picturesque windows, which give the restaurant sufficient ambient light during the day. At night, the window light is replaced by directional halogen track lighting, giving the restaurant a dark feel that doesn't hamper the room's overall visibility.

The restaurant menu features a wide range of regional American fare from salads to steak to seafood. Highly recommended, from Top of the Rock Grille owners Jerry and Laura Fischer, is the Rockin' Tacos. These are not run of the mill fish tacos that you would get from a chain restaurant. The fish is flown in fresh and grilled (not fried) to bring out the natural flavor, which is then highlighted with cheddar cheese, Napa cabbage, tomatoes, fresh tomato and pineapple salsas, dill sauce, sour cream and tortilla chips.

Still not convinced that this place is out of this world for your taste buds? Try the Mile High Chicken. This boasts two grilled chicken breasts on roasted garlic mashed potatoes, topped with portobello mushroom sauce and fried leeks. All menu items are prepared with fresh local and organic foods, including grass fed beef.

Don't count this place out if you are a vegetarian or vegan. There are many menu items that are designed to get your mouth watering like the Teriyaki Stir-fry. This delectable meal has a mélange of vegetables stir-fried with almonds, currants and basmati rice, topped with teriyaki sauce, roasted peppers and scallions. The Vegetable Strata has portobello mushrooms and seasonal roasted vegetables layered and served with roasted garlic and sun dried tomato cream sauce.

Whether you are looking for a romantic night out, tasty lunch or a place to host your next party, the Top of the Rock Grille in Fairfield delivers quality food, a warm atmosphere and an experience you will never forget.

natural flavors and released their Classic Cocktails Light line in 2012. “We’ve seen explosion of growth within the convenient cocktails category,” says Stephanie Provost, Bacardi brand director, rum category.

“The ready-to-drink category reaches its peak during the summer months when consumers are looking for refreshing drink options that are portable and require little preparation,” says Lisa McCann, Brand Director, Malibu, Pernod Ricard USA.

With buzzwords like “all natural,” “low calorie,” and “low carb,” COCO Cocktails [brought] three coconut water cocktails to the marketplace [in 2013]. Skinny Coco, Coco Mango, and Maqui Coco Mojito offer can-to-cocktail-glass drinks that counter a bartender’s coconut water-infused cocktail and pack the potassium benefits of coconut water.

Margaritas have long been frozen, but Sauza Tequila Import Company gave them a new twist with its Sparkling Margarita, which features effervescent bubbles and a margarita taste. The ready-to-serve cocktails were released in April [2013]. “Now you can simply open and pour margaritas that will truly bring some sparkle to the party,” says Vanessa Jenkins, Senior Marketing Director of Tequilas at Beam Inc.

SELL YOUR CUSTOMERS WHAT THEY NEED!

Fall brings lots of opportunities to entertain—tailgating weekends, end-of-the-summer get-togethers, Halloween parties, and just catching up with friends. Help your customers spend less time preparing and more time having fun with their guests by promoting premixed cocktails—everything from ready-to-serve appletinis, Bahama Mamas, and margaritas in every flavor under the sun to mudslides, hurricanes, and zombies.

To make the premixed drinks taste “just made,” remind your customers to chill or freeze the pouches, boxes, cans, or bottles ahead of time, and pour the drinks over fresh ice into chilled or frosted serving glasses. Suggest they rim the serving glasses with specialty salts or sugars, and garnish the drinks with fresh fruit, special olives, or cocktail onions.

TAME THE “DOG DAYS” WITH WATERMELON

The Dog Days—the hottest days of summer—often come in August and early September. This year when the temperature and humidity soar, help your customers keep their cool with watermelon. Suggest they try refreshing mixed drinks made with watermelon-flavored spirits and liqueurs as well as slices and chunks of watermelon infused with their alcoholic beverage of choice.

Spirit-Infused Watermelon

*Slices or chunks of watermelon
Alcoholic beverage of choice*

Place slices or chunks of watermelon in a large shallow nonmetallic container or large heavy-duty zip-top plastic bag. Add alcoholic beverage of choice to cover; seal tightly. Place in the refrigerator for at least an hour, turning over the watermelon after 30 minutes.

Watermelon Collins

Serve in a tall, chilled or frosted glass.

2-2½ ounces watermelon-flavored tequila

2-2½ ounces freshly squeezed lemon juice

1-1½ teaspoons superfine sugar

Club soda, chilled

*Slice or chunk of watermelon
Maraschino cherry*

THE 360 PATRIOT

PROUD AMERICAN VODKA
LIMITED EDITION PACKAGE

We produce the world's only sustainable vodka in the United States, which means 360 Vodka is not only green, but it's red, white and blue too! In fact, our premium quality ingredients are locally grown, then distilled using state-of-the-art, eco-friendly American technology.

To celebrate being American owned and American made, we have created a limited edition package that celebrates and showcases our American pride.

360 Vodka proudly supports American environmental organizations with our Close the Loop program, by providing donations for each swing-top returned for reuse.

SPIRITS OF THE NORTH

Canadian whisky expands its appeal with a range of new product offerings and flavors.

Americans' fascination with—and predilection for—brown spirits continues to accelerate. Whether it's sipping a single-malt Scotch, making a homemade Manhattan with rye, collecting the finest bottles of bourbon, or kicking back with a simple shot of Jameson, whiskies have gained significant attention—and all signs indicate the streak will continue. Amid the amber-hued flood, however, the one segment of the category that has often shied away from the limelight is Canadian whisky. But with clamored-for flavored expansions and craft newcomers, spirits from the Great White North are sought after now more than ever before.

At New York wine and spirits retailer Whiskey & Wine Off 69, owner Frank Giresi says he's seen the Canadian whisky drinker evolve from “a Seagram's, Canadian Club, and Crown Royal crowd.” A younger demographic frequenting his store now fancies themselves whisky geeks, and they want to sample every bottle they can.” Giresi thinks educating his staff first and then his customers through frequent tastings is key to building interest in different brands. “The growth of the whiskey category in general,” he says, “has really helped Canadian whisky.”

One of the most familiar Canadian whisky brands on retail shelves is Beam Global's Canadian Club—which certainly got a helpful mainstream boost as a favorite of Don Draper on Mad Men. Rob Tucker, senior brand manager of Canadian Club Canada, says that the brand has managed to stay at the top through its new spokesman, an integral part of their campaign strategy. “We've found a fun and relevant way to share Canadian Club's history and heritage through our Canadian Club Chairman. Our target consumers love him and his Whisky Whisdoms.”

Brown-Forman's Canadian Mist is another category behemoth. Pedro Berrueco, senior brand manager, says Canadian Mist has gained a number of loyal drinkers. “The premium and premium plus Canadian price segments are driving growth for the most part. However, a few brands in the value price segment have also generated modest growth, including Canadian Mist, which has significantly improved its volume trend. Buoyed, the brand decided to venture into the appealing world of flavors with Peach Mist, Maple Mist, Cinnamon Mist, and Vanilla Mist. “Our intent is to provide consumers with a new and exciting ‘brown spirit experience.’ ”

Constellation Brands' well-known Black Velvet brand also capitalizes on customers' affinity for flavor. On the heels of its Black Velvet Toasted Caramel Flavored whisky, it debuted Black Velvet Cinnamon Rush, which hints of clove, allspice, vanilla, and orange peel.

Diageo's beloved Crown Royal hit a home run with the unveiling of Crown Royal Maple Finished. “Through that specific product launch and with Cabin Fever, we grew a new flavor—maple—within the exciting flavored whisky segment,” says Yvonne Briese, VP whisky, Diageo North America.

Kevin Richards, whisky and specialty brands director for Sazerac Company, says that its Rich & Rare Reserve brand, a peppery upgrade from the original sweet and creamy R&R, continues to expand across the United States. “Recent innovation within the category and overall consumer growing interest in brown spirits has helped Canadian whisky brands get a fresh look from consumers who not only value Canadian whisky's fantastic mixability, but also the stunning complexity of newer, higher end offerings like our Caribou Crossing Single Barrel.”

Richard McLeod, brand director, North American Whisky, Pernod Ricard USA, is quick to point out that Canadian whisky is the largest imported whiskey category in the United States, signifying upward of $4.8 billion at retail. “The best part of the story is that in recent years, American consumers are now enjoying a whole new range of super-premium Canadian whiskies. A variety of spirits have been coming out of Canadian distilleries for quite a while now, but only recently have Americans seen so many at once alongside the handful of well-known brands,” he notes. “It’s the perfect storm. There has been a real explosion of new consumers, as well as a maturing of current consumers into explorers and discoverers in the category. Consumers are demanding a huge variety now. Gone are the days when you could just have those bigger brands. They are still extremely important, but variety is now critical.”

LEGALLY SPEAKING

A PRIVILEGE THAT CATERS TO LICENSEES

Licensees looking to cater food and alcoholic beverages at a wedding, birthday party, anniversary or any private event will find the catering privilege a valuable addition to a liquor license. And the best part of adding the catering privilege is that it doesn't cost a thing!

The catering privilege is available to licensees that hold an annual class "B" or "C" liquor license. The catering privilege allows these licensees to provide and serve alcoholic liquor, wine, and beer as part of a food catering service for a private social gathering in a private place. The food and alcoholic beverages must be served to guests of the private social gathering without cost and neither the host of the event or the licensee may solicit donations in payment for the food or alcoholic beverages. A licensee catering food and alcoholic beverages must maintain a record that includes the date the catering was provided and the name and address of the host of the event.

For the event to qualify as a private social gathering, the private place must be a location that meets all of the following criteria:

- Attendees are limited to the bona fide social host and invited guests; the general public may not have access at the time alcoholic beverages are kept, dispensed and consumed.
- Not of a commercial nature.
- Goods or services are not sold or purchased at the time alcoholic beverages are dispensed and consumed.
- Use of the location was obtained without charge or rent or any other thing of value was exchanged for its use.
- No admission fee or other kind of entrance fee, fare, ticket, donation or charge is made or required of invited guests to enter.
- Not a licensed premises.

For those licensees that don't qualify for the catering privilege there is always the possibility of transferring a license or obtaining a special event license.

License Transfers

A license may be transferred within the boundaries of the approving local authority. The minimum transfer period is 24 hours. All selling and serving of alcoholic beverages must cease at the original location during the transfer period. Only those alcoholic beverages permitted by the license may be sold on the premises to which the license has been transferred. A license transfer must be applied for and approved by the local authority and the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division.

The location a license is being transferred to may not already be a licensed premise. If the location does hold a license, that licensee may file a premise update to unlicense a portion of their premises allowing the transferring licensee to apply for a transfer to the newly unlicensed area.

Special Event Licenses

A special event license allows the license holder to sell and dispense alcoholic beverages for a shorter period of time; a 5-day license is the shortest special event license available. Licensing requirements for a 5-day license are the same as the requirements for an annual license of the same class.

Conclusion

Summer and fall are perfect times for festivities and with many alternatives, licensees may choose what licensing option best suits the occasion. To review your special event questions with a licensing specialist contact the Division at 1-866-469-2223, option 1 or 515-281-7400, option 1.

Chunk of watermelon*

Pour the vodka into a mixing glass or shaker half-filled with ice; add dashes of dry and sweet vermouth (vary the amount of vermouth depending on whether it needs to be a dry or wet/sweet martini). Stir or shake gently to mix, and immediately strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass over fresh ice, if desired. Garnish with the chunk of watermelon.

*2 cups crushed ice
1 small slice watermelon cut into chunks
1-1½ ounces watermelon-flavored liqueur
1-1½ ounces white or gold tequila
½-1 ounce freshly squeezed lime or lemon juice
½ ounce triple sec or other orange-flavored liqueur
½ ounce sour mix*

Put the ice in a heavy-duty blender, and add the remaining ingredients. Blend until slushy but still firm; pour the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass.

Watermelon-Flavored Daiquiri

Serve in a chilled daiquiri glass.

*2-2½ ounces watermelon-flavored rum
Juice of ½ lime
½ teaspoon superfine sugar
Small cubes of watermelon*

Combine the rum, lime juice, and sugar in a shaker half-filled with ice, and shake vigorously. Strain the mixed drink into the chilled serving glass. Garnish with watermelon cubes.

**Variation: To make a frozen daiquiri, combine the ingredients in a heavy-duty blender; add at least 4 ounces of crushed ice, and blend at low speed until “snowy.” Pour the mixed drink into the serving glass.*
